Republican Convention at Madison Nominates Samuel A. Cook for Governor.

WONDERFUL SCENES ARE ENACTED

Eloquent Addresses by Spooner and Quarles—La Follette Meeting Nominate Their Chosen Prophet Once More.

(By Staff Correspondent.)
Madison, May 20.—An epoch in the history of the republican party of Wisconsin has come and passed and the action of the regularly elected and regularly accredited republican convention composed of delegates to a state convention of Wisconsin republicans has set its foot on all "isms" that have for so long been the running sores of the Grand Old Party in this state. By the action of the republican convention yesterday, its endorsement by Senator Spooner and Senator Quarles, Congressmen Minor and Babcock, ex-Congressmen Barney and ex-Governors Scofield and Upham, the party today stands upon undisputed grounds. It is the republican party of Wisconsin and as such is worthy of the recognition of every true republican of the state. Its nomination of S. A. Cook of Neenah, long recognized as a republican of standing, for the office of Governor has placed this convention beyond the term of bolters unless the majority can bolt the minority.

Making History.
Never in the history of Wisconsin have such scenes been enacted as took place at Madison within the past two days. Never has such an assemblage of honest God-fearing men met in any convention and had to face greater difficulties than when presented and met at the armory hall meeting and later at the republican convention hall at the Fuller Opera house. It took steady hands, and brainy heads to meet the emergencies of the occasion and these were not lacking. General Winkler, the Nestor of the Wisconsin Bar, Senator Rogers of Milwaukee, N. B. Henshaw, of Wausau, E. R. Hicks of Oshkosh, Thomas Spooner of Milwaukee, and last and foremost, Malcolm G. Jeffris of out-town city, altered the republican craft through the stormy seas to victory for right and honest government at the convention of republicans which ended last night.

Strong Men.
It took strong men to accomplish these results and these men were not wanting. Led by M. G. Jeffris every step of the attempt to steal the birthright of the republican party was gallantly fought in the convention at the armory. When by dishonest methods the Third termers gained their victory by votes secured by the state central committee and their cut and dried program was being carried through by a packed convention, the majority led by Malcolm G. Jeffris withdrew to the Opera house and the slow and sure steps proceeded to the organization of a state convention of Wisconsin republicans duly accredited and regular in the nomination of a state ticket and the election of a state delegation at large for the national convention at Chicago. Each step was carefully taken and each claim duly presented and acted upon before being passed, upon by the convention.

Spooner and Quarles.
After leaving the armory meeting on Wednesday, the republican delegates went to the Opera house. A temporary organization was formed, committees appointed on resolutions and credentials and the meeting adjourned until Thursday morning at nine o'clock. After a morning spent in deliberation the convention adjourned until two o'clock when it was announced that Senator Quarles and Spooner would be present. It was the earnest body of men who were here assembled. Men who had helped to steer the party through many a stormy meeting and who were now facing another issue the like of which they had never before experienced. It was a critical period for the republican party of Wisconsin and deliberation and not a type written schedule was being followed.

Other Meeting.
Meanwhile the La Follette delegates freed from the honest members of the convention assembled in the armory. There was no need for professional thugs, game wardens, or special deputy sheriffs to keep the crowd out. They filed in and sat behind four hundred and ninety-eight regularly accredited delegates to a republican convention and the others who had been seated by the state central committee for the purpose of nominating Robert M. La Follette for governor for a third term. It was a strange assembly. Vacant seats of the republican delegates did not awe the La Follette men from following out their cut and dried program. All had been prepared before hand and Speaker Lenroot sat in his chair, the puppet of the administration and acted as the mouth piece of the executive office and allowed the action of the meeting to go ahead according to schedule. It did not take the convention long to do its regular work. Of course time was taken for a windy and wordy address by their nominee for Governor and for eulogistic speeches by members of his party but the business of the convention was all cut and dried and went off as clock work. The following ticket was placed in nomination:

For Governor—Robert M. La Follette.
For Lieutenant Governor—J. O. Davidson, Soldiers Grove.
For Secretary of State—Walter L. Houser, Mondovi.
For State Treasurer—John J. Kempf, Milwaukee.
For Attorney General—L. M. Sturdevant, Neillsville.
For Railroad Commissioner—John W. Thomas, Chippewa Falls.
For Insurance Commissioner—Zeno M. Host, Milwaukee.
Delegates-at-Large.
Robert M. La Follette, Dane.
Isaac Stephenson, Marinette.
W. D. Connor, Wood.
J. H. Stout, Dunn.
Alternate Delegates-at-Large.
Thomas Morrison, Manitowish.
William Kleckhefer, Milwaukee.
Melvin Perry, Kewaunee.
John M. McConnell, La Crosse.
Electors-at-Large.
Charles F. Hisey, Milwaukee.
A. R. Hall, Dunn.
Cook Nominated.

At the meeting of the afternoon the Opera house was packed from top to bottom with earnest men. Cheers greeted General Winkler as he stepped to the platform and the convention went wild when Jeffris stepped forward. The appearance of General Wicks, the Cook leader, the occasion of another demonstration and Congressmen Minor and Babcock both received their share of attention. After the convention was called to order and General Winkler read the report of the resolution committee which was adopted by a vote by assembly districts showing a total seating of 567 delegates, Hon. Emil Baensch stepped forward and in a few well chosen words withdrew his name as a candidate for the nomination for Governor in the interests of peace and harmony. He was followed by General Hicks who placed in nomination the name of Samuel A. Cook of Neenah. This was seconded by Judge Hurley of Marathon county and no other names being presented, Samuel A. Cook was nominated by acclamation as standard bearer of the party. He was escorted to the stage and in a few well chosen words accepted the nomination at the hands of the republican convention.

Spooner Appears.
The sensation of the afternoon was when Senator Spooner and Quarles appeared, escorted by State Senators Rogers and ex-Governors Scofield and Upham. Never has such an ovation been tendered any man by a delegation of party as greeted John C. Spooner when he stepped to the front of the platform. It was minutes before it quieted enough for the audience to hear him say, "Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the republican convention, I understand this convention to be constituted of a majority of the duly accredited delegates elected by the republicans of the state of Wisconsin to the state convention called by the state central committee, and entitled upon every principle of parliamentary usage of well established party law and of fair play and political decency to be placed upon the temporary roll of the convention with the right to exercise all of the functions of any other delegate save one only, and that one all just men recognize in party functions and courts of justice, that no man shall be permitted to sit in judgment upon his own right."

Declares Love of Party.
"I love the republican party. I have followed its flag since I arrived at maturity. I have gloried in its triumphs, I have sorrowed in its defeats. I have deplored more than it is possible to express to you the absolutism and the methods which have characterized the last few years of administration in Wisconsin. (Great applause.) I have voted its ticket and supported them on the stump—sometimes the supreme test of party loyalty (laughter and great applause); but it was not difficult to see that if persisted in the time must come which would bring with it the crisis which confronted you on yesterday and which with all my heart and soul I hoped might be averted by some means compatible with loyalty to the intelligent republican constituencies which commissions you bear, and which with that moral courage and spirit which alone redempts one from the just charge of pusillanimity and treachery."

Every Effort Made for Peace.
"You made every conceivable effort within the limit of manly and honorable endeavor and when you found—also that it could ever be so in Wisconsin—that men evidenced by duly authenticated credentials, constituting a majority of the convention were not permitted to sit, but were unseated primarily, not by the convention but by a committee, and the accredited delegates entitled to sit not only denied that right but denied a right to come into the convention to speak in defense of their constituencies, you decided, not I, what duty and self respect required of you."

Not Gathering of "Bolters."
"You made your decision. I am here today—gentlemen of the convention, to endorse your action. I have cast my political fortunes—I am without political ambition—in with you, to the end. This convention is not a mass meeting, it is not a voluntary association of disgruntled bolters, or disgruntled citizens. It is a convention of regularly elected and duly accredited republicans of Wisconsin. It is not a bolting convention, unless a majority can bolt a minority. Gentlemen, this convention is not inspired by the personal ambition of any one in it. It is not inspired by a struggle for power. It is inspired by loyalty to representative government."

Continues Speech.
Senator Spooner continued his address which was full of striking truths. He referred lovingly to former Governors Randall, Harvey, Fairchild, Rusk, Washburn, and Scofield and all the men whose names you find upon the legislative list. He spoke feelingly of the practice of the state paid employees instructing the voters of the state as to how they should conduct themselves. He endorsed Roosevelt and paid tribute to McKinley. He said that Roosevelt would not tolerate such an organization as the game wardens and closed by saying:

Fighting for Principle.
"This work has just begun. Remember you are fighting for principle. Tell your constituents what is involved in it; tell them you are fighting for decent political methods; tell them you are fighting for the dearest birthright of the people, the opportunity to be heard in the conduct of their own business (Applause)."
"Men who fight under such a flag, men inspired by such a principle, if they be good men and true men, loyal and intelligent in their devotion to our institutions, will work day and night in order to bring about a triumph for the restoration of representative government in this state (Applause)."

Says Cook Means Justice.
"Now, gentlemen of the convention, if I could thank you as I would love to do for this welcome which you have given me, I would indeed be able to speak with the tongue of an angel. I can only speak with the faltering tongue of a tired man. I thank you. I bid you Godspeed and to carry the flag day in and day out until this victory for justice and (great applause)—and Roosevelt is won and we will have representative government of Wisconsin, the will of the people will be carried into legislation and administration, and with that we will have one other thing which we all want, and the people want, we will have peace (Great and continued applause)."

Quarles Speech.
Not less boldly did Senator Quarles handle the subject. Heart and soul he was with the convention and before he had spoken for two minutes his hearers listened with rapt attention to the words which issued from his lips. He is a strong speaker but never before had he appealed so directly to the citizens of the state as he did yesterday when he threw himself body and soul into the work of the republican party of Wisconsin. When Senator Quarles said:
"My friends, I will not longer interrupt the regular order of procedure. I am thankful to you for the most cordial greeting that you have extended to me, and I only want to say in conclusion that, live or die, sink or swim, survive or perish, I throw my political ambition into the scale, and agree to stay with you and go down with you if necessary."

"We will keep the old flag flying, and if we are submerged those who come after us and take that flag will say: 'That was the sacrifice offering of brave and patriotic republicans.' (Great applause).
The enthusiasm was intense.

Other Speakers.
Babcock was called for and made a telling speech. Minor voiced his opinion that the republican party would be crowned with success.
Baensch was called for and in telling words spoke for the earnest support of every republican in the state. Upham responded to pleas for a speech and spoke briefly. Scofield pledged support.

Whitehead.
Senator John M. Whitehead was demanded when the applause for ex-Gov. Scofield had subsided. As he was seen coming down the aisle the enthusiasm again broke forth, many of the delegates springing to their feet and waving hats and handkerchiefs. It was some time before Mr. Whitehead could make himself heard. He spoke as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: I have believed ever since I became a voter and a citizen that I was a republican, and have striven for the opportunities have been given me, during the last few years, to show by my work that I was a republican, and I am grateful to you for the kind greeting which you extend to me at this time, and for what I take to be an endorsement of what republicans have done in the state senate during the last four years."

"The republicans of Wisconsin have been making a serious view of the situation during the last two or three days, and as they have seen the light they have followed. As their duty has been made clear they have performed. We are here at the opening of a campaign headed by our great senators, headed by a gentleman whom we have named as our standard bearer for governor, and there as a responsibility upon every one of us to put forth a supreme effort to justify the things which we have held forth as the truth, and to be sure that republican success is attained in Wisconsin at the November election."

Evening Session.
At the conclusion of the afternoon session the convention adjourned until evening. At this time the following ticket was placed in nomination. The greatest harmony prevailed and the greatest enthusiasm greeted each candidate's nomination.

State Ticket.
For Governor—Samuel A. Cook.
For Lieutenant Governor—George H. Ray.
For Secretary of State—Nels P. Holman.
For State Treasurer—Gustav Wollmeier.
For Attorney General—Judge D. E. Classon.
For Railroad Commissioner—Chas. Barker.
For Insurance Commissioner—J. C. Roenitz.

Delegates-at-Large.
C. C. Rogers, nominated M. G. Jeffris for delegate at large showing the high esteem the convention held Mr. Jeffris. The enthusiasm was great. Mr. Jeffris, however, declined the nomination saying he had come to Madison to help save the republican party, not to seek office.
When the applause had died away Mr. Jeffris came to the front of the stage. Speaking with apparent effort Mr. Jeffris declined the nomination, saying he came to Madison to help save the republican party and could not let any one say he was a self-seeker.

"I am going to apply gag rule in this case, and declare Mr. Rogers' nomination out of order," he said, amid applause.
T. W. Spence of Milwaukee placed in nomination for delegates at large Senators John C. Spooner and Joseph V. Quarles, Congressman Joseph V. Babcock and Judge Emil Baensch. "Four of a kind," said Mr. Spence, that was all the nominating speech he made.

The mention of each name elicited hearty applause, but when Judge Baensch's name was spoken every body whistled and hats, canes, and handkerchiefs were waved. On motion of A. L. Vannaman, the nomination was made by acclamation, and by a rising vote. Three ringing cheers were added before delegates resumed their seats. The desire of the convention to honor Chairman Jeffris was not still by his refusal to accept the office of delegate at large. T. W. Spence secured the floor, and nominated Mr. Jeffris for alternate, amid great enthusiasm. Mr. Jeffris again protested, saying he could not see his way clear to recede from his determination not to accept anything at the hands of the convention.
"I think you are out of order," said Mr. Spence, amid laughter.

B. F. McMillan supported Mr. Jeffris, declaring that the convention should abide by the chairman's judgment in this personal matter. After a brief conference with Mr. Jeffris, Mr. Spence said:

Jeffris Consents to Be an Alternate

"Gentlemen of the convention: I beg to add to what I formerly said concerning the advisability of having our splendid chairman appear in the national convention, that this matter is not a question of giving him any special honor or putting him in any possible way in a delicate position, but there is this concerning the work to be done in that convention. Our senior senator, Senator Spooner, does not feel that has a voice that will be of any particular service to him before the immense mass of people that will be gathered in the national convention; or indeed that his voice will be equal to the service that will be required of him in presenting this most important question of which of these conventions is the one to send delegates to the national convention."

"Now there is no doubt that our president will have his voice back long before the national convention meets, and we all know that it is one of the most delightful, as well as forcible, strong, and far reaching of any gentleman who appears upon the platform in this state; and I think that, under all of the circumstances, the suggestion of delicacy made by the chairman be removed, and I think Mr. Chairman, you will yield under the circumstances and permit this convention to name you as an alternate. Can I have your consent?"

Mr. Jeffris—Yes.
Mr. Spence then put the motion electing Mr. Jeffris, and it was adopted with a shout.
Mr. Spence then presented the following names as alternates:
D. E. Rorland, Eagle River, alternate for J. V. Quarles.
H. Meyers, Jr., Grant county, alternate for J. W. Babcock.
John Koehler, Kenosha, alternate for Emil Baensch.

These elections were made by acclamation.

COOK WAS BORN ON A FARM.

He Was Distinguished as a Boy by His Fairness to His Fellowmen.
Samuel A. Cook, the republican nominee for governor, was born in Ontario, Canada, in 1849, his parents, who formerly resided in Pennsylvania, being successful farmers. Mr. Cook was one of twelve children. Owing to the fact that the Canadian farm was not wide enough to permit of his being partitioned among the children, the father of Mr. Cook, who was then 6 years old, determined to seek the far west, and as Wisconsin was at that time extending a welcome and flattering offer to industrious farmers, the Cook family, in 1856, decided to make its future home in Calumet county.

As a youth Samuel A. Cook was recognized as industrious, both in school and on the farm, and as a result, he gained much favor from teachers and schoolmates, and throughout the neighborhood. It was said of him as a boy that he was fair in everything—willing to give every one else a fair show—and this character was not wide enough to permit of his being partitioned among the children, the father of Mr. Cook, who was then 6 years old, determined to seek the far west, and as Wisconsin was at that time extending a welcome and flattering offer to industrious farmers, the Cook family, in 1856, decided to make its future home in Calumet county.

The life of young Cook, so far as special incidents were concerned, was little different from that of other farmers' sons. This was true with one exception. Young Cook was one of the few survivors of the Lady Elgin disaster. When he was 11 years of age, his mother, a sister and himself went to the old Canadian home to collect deferred payments on the farm amounting to $10,000. The return journey to their Wisconsin home by way of the great lakes was safely made as far as Chicago, where they arrived just in time to take passage on the ill-fated Lady Elgin. In the storm and resulting disaster the mother and daughter lost their lives, while the son saved himself only by clinging to a fragment of wreckage from which he was rescued after fourteen hours of bitter experience in the waves.

Member of Custer's Famous Cavalry.
At the age of 15 years Samuel entered the cavalry, becoming a member of the famous Custer's troop, in which he remained until the war ended, when he returned to Calumet and resumed the commonplace duties of farm life. For five years he remained on the farm, and then started out for himself as a subcontractor in getting out railroad ties and timber in his home county.

Mistake in Identity.
London, May 20.—Special dispatches from Shanghai to the London morning papers report that the Shikishima was sunk while the Fuji and the Asama had to be towed away badly damaged. Presumably the Russians wrongly identified the vessels, the Shikishima and the Hatsuse being practically sister ships.

Two Jap Ships Are Lost.

Tokio, May 20.—Vice Admiral Togo has reported as follows: "A report from Rear Admiral Dewa says that the cruisers Kasuga and Yoshino collided during a fog off Port Arthur on May 15. The Yoshino sank, only ninety of her crew being saved, the remaining 210 being drowned. "On the same day the battleship Hatsuse struck a Russian mine and sank."

Giving details of the disaster, Vice Admiral Togo says: "At 1:14 p. m. May 15, in a deep fog off Port Arthur, the Kasuga rammed the Yoshino, sinking the latter in a few minutes. Ninety of her crew were saved."

"The same morning the Hatsuse, while cruising off Port Arthur covering the landing of the soldiers, struck a mine ten knots southeast of the harbor entrance. She signaled for help and instantly struck another mine. "She sank in half an hour, carrying down with her 441 men. Three hundred of her crew were saved by torpedo boats."

tered the cavalry, becoming a member of the famous Custer's troop, in which he remained until the war ended, when he returned to Calumet and resumed the commonplace duties of farm life. For five years he remained on the farm, and then started out for himself as a subcontractor in getting out railroad ties and timber in his home county.

In 1876 he wedded Miss Jennie Christie of the same county, and soon after their marriage the young couple removed to Unity, Marathon county. In addition to contracting for supply of railroad ties and timber on a larger scale than before, Mr. Cook conducted a general store with success.

Becomes Mayor of Neenah.
Political honors followed soon upon his increased popularity as a result of his pleasant disposition, and in the spring of 1883 he consented to accept the republican nomination for mayor of Neenah for one term. Although his opponent was one of the most popular men of the party, Mr. Cook was elected by an overwhelming majority.

In 1889 Mr. Cook was elected a member of the state legislature, and in 1892 he was elected by acclamation as a delegate to the national republican convention at Minneapolis.

Elected to Congress.
Two years later the republican convention of the Sixth Congressional district tendered Mr. Cook the nomination for member of congress. He was elected by more than 7,600 majority. Among other work performed by him while a member of congress was that in behalf of deserving pensioners and in the interest of pure cheese. In the latter work the people of Wisconsin, especially those engaged in the dairy interests, were particularly interested.

Nels Holman.
Nels Holman, who has been nominated for secretary of state, was born in Deerfield, of Norwegian parents, May 3, 1861. He was educated in the parochial and public schools and finished his schooling in Marshall academy, Dane county, and later at Hague's seminary, Red Wing, Minn. He is also a graduate of the University of Wisconsin law school. In 1886 he married Miss Jennie Olson of Rock county. Mr. Holman enjoys great popularity among the lumbermen of the state, and was twice chosen president of the Wisconsin Retail Lumber Dealers' association. From 1895 to 1897 he was publisher of the Deerfield Enterprise, and in 1899 started the publication of the political portions in Dane county, and also has been a member of the state legislature.

D. G. Classon.
D. G. Classon, who has been nominated for attorney general, was born in Oconto in 1869, graduated from the Oconto High school in 1887. After his graduation he taught school for time and then attended Beloit Academy. In the fall of 1889 he entered the university law school at Madison, from which he graduated in 1891.

Coming Attractions.

Al. H. Wilson is always sure of a cordial welcome and liberal patronage in this city, but this season he can confidently look forward to arousing even greater interest and enthusiasm, as he comes in his new romantic play "A Prince of Tatters," by that prolific writer, Sidney R. Ellis, a play in which he has scored great personal success. The supporting company is all that could be desired, and the management, Messrs. Yale & Ellis have staged the play on a lavish scale of scenic splendor. During the action of the play, Wilson sings six new songs, "My Old Pipe," "The Whining of The Yarn," "Whispering Breuze," "Memory," "The Jolly Rover," and "Schnitzelbank" and they are all of that catchy kind that are taken up and whistled and sung on the streets and in the parlor. Mr. Wilson comes to the Myers Grand Friday, May 27.

Otis Skinner.

Otis Skinner has been his own stage-director or "producer" of his own plays ever since he left Edwin Booth and Mme. Modjeski to become an independent "star" about twelve years ago, and the classic productions which he "staged" this season for the joint starring tour of Ada Rohan and himself, the lavish and accurate realization of Baker's great tragedy, "Franciscan da Rimini" last year, "Lazarre," "Prince Otto," "The Vagabond," "Rosemary," "His Grace de Grammont," and the several other notable plays in which the distinguished young actor has starred during the past few years, bear eloquent testimony of his prowess in this difficult branch of stage art.

As a "producer" Mr. Skinner ranks today with Mansfield, Southern, Mrs. Fiske and Gillette (doubtless the best on the native stage), and his last effort, "The Harvester" will afford, it is said, new and splendid opportunities for his genius in this direction. This freshly adapted play from the brilliant successful "Le Chemineau" of Jean Richepin is set in the picturesque valley of the St. Lawrence in the pictureque "50's" and affords wide scope in a scenic and costume way.

Mr. Skinner with his specially chosen company will appear here Saturday, May 28, at the Myers Theatre, for a single presentation of this triumphantly dramatic play from the pen of Richepin, the most original and effective living dramatist.

His First Smoke.

Never in the history of Moving Pictures has such an interest subject been presented, as the one called "His First Smoke." It must be seen to be appreciated. It is a very long picture, and full of humor and interesting situations. Everybody should attend the grand entertainment that will be given at Myers Opera House, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, May 23 and 24, by the Edison Projectoscope, with everything entirely new. It is promised that this entertainment will far exceed in interest anything that has ever been given in Janesville. Not only will Moving Pictures be shown, but all the very latest illustrated songs, novel and instrumental music and other entertainment will be in evidence. The manager of Myers Opera House has made special arrangements for the presentation of D. W. It was his third offense for burglary and the court acted under the law providing that where a prisoner has twice been sentenced for felony and is again arrested, he may be sentenced for life. Oliver has been arrested a number of times and the court thought it well to rid society of such a character.

Extraordinary Accommodations at St. Louis Fair.

Splendid Hotel Right Inside Exposition Grounds—Thousands of Rooms at Very Moderate Rates—Ideal Conditions.

Visitors to the World's Fair at St. Louis need not fear either lack of accommodations or extortionate prices. Under the supervision of the World's Fair management a huge hotel has been built right inside the exposition grounds where every comfort and modern convenience at most reasonable rates can be enjoyed by all.

This new departure in world's fair accommodations is called "The Inside Inn" and it is built and furnished upon the same lavish scale which characterizes every feature of the big show. It is three stories high, is 400 feet wide and 800 feet long. It contains spacious reception-rooms, reading-rooms, parlors and offices and its dining-hall and restaurant will seat 2,500 people to a meal at a single sitting. It has 2,257 bed-rooms the prices of which range from $1.50 to $5.50 per day on the European plan and from $3.00 to $7.00 on the American plan, including daily admission to the exposition, all guests enjoying the same dining-room privileges and service. The Inside Inn is under the direct management and supervision of Mr. E. M. Statler, the well-known caterer of Buffalo. This fact alone is sufficient guarantee that the cuisine and service will always be of the very highest order.

Those who remember the heart-breaking weariness of the long journey homeward after a tiring day at the World's Fair at Chicago or the Pan-American at Buffalo will instantly appreciate the extraordinary convenience and comfort afforded by thus residing right within the Exposition grounds. No admission fee other than the first will be needed by guests of The Inside Inn, while the saving effected of carfare, suburban train service, etc., will prove a valuable item to those who study economy.

The enormous capacity of The Inside Inn assures ample accommodations for all—no matter when or in what numbers they come—but those who prefer to secure their rooms in advance may make reservations now for any period during the life of the Fair. A post card addressed to The Inside Inn, Administration Bldg., World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis, Mo., will bring a most interesting booklet, giving every possible detail.

SCROFULA A DISEASE WE INHERIT.

Scrofula manifests itself in many ways. Swelling of the glands of the neck and throat, Catarrh, weak eyes, white swelling, offensive sores and abscesses, skin eruptions, loss of strength and weakness in muscles and joints. It is a miserable disease and traceable in almost every instance to some family blood taint.

Scrofula is bred in the bone, is transmitted from parent to child, the seeds are planted in infancy and unless the blood is purged and purified and every atom of the taint removed Scrofula is sure to develop at some period in your life.

No remedy equals S. S. S. as a cure for Scrofula. It cleanses and builds up the blood, makes it rich and pure, and under the tonic effects of this great Blood Remedy, the general health improves, the digestive organs are strengthened, and there is a gradual but sure return to health. The deposit of tubercular matter in the joints and glands is carried off as soon as the blood is restored to a normal condition, and the sores, eruptions, and other symptoms of Scrofula disappear.

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and harmless; an ideal blood purifier and tonic that removes all blood taint and builds up weak constitutions. Our physicians will advise without charge, all who write us about their case. Book mailed free.

Scrofula appeared on the head of my 11th grandchild when only 28 months old, and spread rapidly over her body. The disease next attacked the eyes and we feared she would lose her sight. Eminent physicians were consulted, but could do nothing to relieve the little innocent. It was then that we decided to try S. S. S. That medicine at once made a speedy and complete cure. She is now a plump, healthy child, and has never had a sign of the disease to return.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, May 20, 1864.—A Letter From the Fifth.—Mrs. Sally A. Stillwell, of this city received a letter from her son in the fifth regiment dated Spotsylvania Court House, May 5, from which we are permitted to make the following extract: It is an indication not only of the cheerful spirit of the writer but the faith and confidence of the army generally. Such words from the heroic boys are in the field facing the enemy and death, inspire us with faith and confidence in the ultimate success of the campaign which is so sorely trying the temper of our troops.

"We have been fighting eight days in all, driving the rebels steadily all the time until we reached here. It has taken us three days to get them out of this; but we whipped them last night. Our regiment lost 250 men in the fight. It was a mortal wound and the drum major shot through the hip. The army had a tough time, but all is well. We are using up the rebel army, and I think I said before, that this campaign will not end the war."

Wounded.—William Wiggins, a member of Company E, 5th Regiment was wounded in the right leg above the knee, during the battle of the 13th. His injuries were of such a serious nature as to render amputation necessary. He is now in Washington and is doing as well as could be expected.

Dwelling Partially Burned.—We learn that part of the house of Mr. William Knowles, a few miles out of this city, in the town of Harmony, was destroyed by fire this morning. Mr. Knowles and wife were in the city at the time; the information reached them of the disaster.

Fatal Accident.—We are informed that Mr. William Viney an old resident of the town of Porter in this county was accidentally killed in that town yesterday, by a wagon heavily loaded passing over his head. The full particulars we have not learned.

Man Killed.—A rumor is current in the city that a man was killed at Madison last night in a quarrel with a soldier.

Col. Bragg Killed.—Maunster Star has information that Col. E. S. Bragg, of the immortal sixth regiment is killed. It is also said that Lieut. Col. Dawes and Capt. Kellogg of the same regiment are killed.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

The ticket which appears at the head of these columns tonight, was nominated at the republican convention yesterday by 567 delegates duly elected and qualified by credentials properly signed.

Senators Spooner and Quarles as well as many other prominent attorneys, are authority for the statement, that this is the only republican state convention legally held this year, and that its actions will be ratified, not only by the court of public opinion, but by the highest legal tribunal in the land.

The first test will come before the republican national committee, when it is called upon to represent the party in the national convention, and the final test when the Secretary of State is legally instructed as to what names shall appear in the republican column on the official ballot.

The 567 men who walked out of the La Follette convention are not bolters. They represented a majority of the legal delegates, and when it was discovered that their rights had been usurped, and that every plea for justice and fair play was ignored, they quietly withdrew and organized a republican state convention.

This action was neither hasty nor ill-advised. It was taken as the result of deliberate judgment and by the advice of the best legal talent within the ranks of the party. It will stand the test of close investigation, and will be endorsed by all fair minded republicans throughout the state.

The conditions of the party at the present time, has no parallel in the history of the state. For four years all efforts for harmony have failed. Two years ago when the state convention decided that the administration for Governor La Follette should be continued for another term the minority, though roughly abused, submitted with good grace, and remained loyal to the party.

This year the conservative element went to the convention with a clearly defined majority of legally elected delegates. They had no favors to ask of the convention, and when they found that their rights were ignored and that by the power of might they were disfranchised there was no other course left for them to pursue but the one adopted.

They went to the state convention 567 strong for the purpose of nominating a state ticket and the transaction of such other business as came before the convention. A majority of the republicans of the state elected them for this purpose and they would have been recalcitrant to the trust had they failed in accomplishment. The ticket they have placed in nomination is a republican ticket from top to bottom. It has no taint of personalism and represents the party in the broadest sense of the term. The Gazette hesitates for its most cordial support, and the paper believes that it will be elected by an old time majority.

WAGES AND THE COST OF LIVING.

Our Free-Traders, although admitting that wages have been increased very much under the operation of the Dingley Tariff, yet constantly maintain that the cost of living has increased still more, so that the masses are worse off than under the low prices of 1895 and 1896. But the contentions of free-traders, it must be understood, do not always coincide with the truth. It is admitted by all that the range of prices of all commodities has increased more or less during the last six years. At that time, as has been shown again and again by the American Economist, the level of the prices of necessities of life is not so very far above that of previous years. The index of prices, as given by Dun's Commercial Agency, is considerably less at the present time than last year when it reached its highest point, and a great deal less than it was from 1870 to 1880, when wages were not more than 75 per cent. of what they are now.

What we want, however, if we can ascertain them, is actual figures of both prices and wages as compared with our last free-trade years. These large extent by the officials of the Farmers' Association for Chicago. They find that the cost of living in Chicago has increased less than 15 per cent. since 1898, while wages have gone up in some cases as much as 100 per cent. Even the average increase in wages, they say, has been far greater than the increase in the cost of living. They estimate that a family spending $1,000 in 1898 would have to spend $1,135.50 in 1903 to purchase the same amount of food, clothing, and shelter. This makes the increase between 11 and 12 per cent. The increase of wages in various lines of industry has been as follows:

Truck teamsters, 30 to 40 per cent.; garment workers (16,000 in Chicago), cutters, 40 to 50 per cent.; sewers, 25 to 30 per cent.; men in lumber yards, 25 per cent.; railway street car employees, 20 per cent.; printers and kindred workers, 20 per cent.; box makers, 22 1/2 per cent.; glove makers, 20 to 25 per cent.; harness makers, 30 per cent.; laundry workers, 25 per cent.; electric workers, 25 per cent.; sheet metal workers, 17 1/2 per cent.; structural iron workers, 17 1/2 per cent.; building laborers, 25 per cent.; bricklayers and masons, 20 per cent.; coal miners in Illinois district, 35 per cent.

This shows a most substantial gain to the workmen of Chicago, and no doubt the same gain exists throughout the country. It would be well for the Free-Traders to accompany their statements with actual figures concerning both the increase in wages and cost of living before they can further contend that the latter has exceeded the former.—American Economist.

The convention hall was packed with La Follette supporters, and the state university was well represented in the crowd. The young men were given an opportunity to see how a steal can be conducted and a missing link in their education is thus provided.

The younger element of the La Follette party are very jubilant over the rupture which occurred in the convention, but the sober thinking men of that faction realize that the Governor alone is responsible for conditions and they find no occasion for rejoicing.

The first bolt was made by the La Follette men, when they refused to attend congressional caucuses to elect members of the State Central Committee. They proposed to control this committee by having their convention elect one nominated by the minority. Another bare faced steal.

If Wisconsin ever had a political machine, it has one now. It works overtime, nights and Sundays, disgracing the state at every turn of the wheel. It slipped a cog in the convention Wednesday and repairs will be necessary later in the season.

The National Committee may be called upon to decide upon the legality of the Wisconsin delegation at the republican convention next month.

The Wisconsin congressional delegation will have plenty of time to do a little thinking on its own account. The retrospect will not be very consoling.

If a State Central Committee possesses unlimited power, what is the need of a convention?

The republican party will live in the state after La Folletteism is buried.

The people, and not the dictator, govern in this free land.

PRESS COMMENT

Oshkosh Northwestern: Our summer are short enough at best and it is therefore to be hoped the genuine article will soon put in its appearance.

Chippewa Herald: Of all the nations Japan is the first to complete her exhibit at St. Louis. Also in the far east.

Chicago News: What this country needs is a batch of indigenous poets who will evolve spring poetry that will fit the meteorological conditions.

Madison Democrat: The Emperor of Corea is said to have 100 wives. No wonder his is called the hermit kingdom.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: Two nines from the Wisconsin Juvenile Asylum are to come together on the diamond next Saturday. How would you like to be the umpire?

La-Crosse Chronicle: Ghastly, goodness! Mary Yellin Lease has again taken up her residence in Kansas, and announces herself in readiness to take the stump forthwith.

Grant County Herald: The old saying has it that "the good die young." However we know of two things that never die young! A bad drunkard and a spring chicken.

Milwaukee News: There is some consolation to be found in the reflection that however much the political heathen may rage there is good fish in the north in the solitude of the woods.

Hartford Press: The one man who has brought the Republican party to this crisis has nothing to be proud of. It is he hoped no other man of this caliber will ever be permitted to gain such a foothold in it.

Superior Telegram: Those politicians who thought everything would be quiet along the republican lines this summer because Roosevelt is a certainty, failed to take a number of gubernatorial nominations into consideration.

La Crosse Leader-Press: The general conference committee considering the matter has decided that the committee divided only 55 to 43 on the proposition, it is evident that there is a considerable number of church members who see no harm in the amusement.

Milton Junction Telephone: It is announced that among the antiquities to be exhibited at the St. Louis exposition will be the first man who "had more papers than he could read" and the merchant who thought it useless to advertise because "everybody knew him anyway."

Evening Wisconsin: Tourists generally will be pleased to learn that Gov. Odell has vetoed the Niagara power grab. If New York were to be free in her grants of Niagara power the magnificent cataract would soon be reduced to the character of a mill dam.

Waukesha Freeman: The action of the ideal club of this city in assuming the responsibility of the management of the Emergency hospital is one worthy of great commendation. It is hoped that all possible assistance will be given the ladies and that in the course of time the city government will realize the value of the institution and take charge of it.

Maize News: One Prof. Swingle of the department of agriculture wants people to go raising date palms on the desert plains of Nevada, Arizona, Colorado and southeastern California. If death valley in California could be irrigated it would be a splendid place for palms, coconut trees, watermelon patches, early strawberries, pine apples, olives, coffee and many other useful plants. May we all live to see the day.

Evening Wisconsin: M. G. Jeffris of Rock County, one of the ablest and clearest-headed jurists in the state, and withal an honest and a fair man, has examined carefully into the credentials before the state convention, and he declares on his honor as a gentleman and a lawyer, that the La Follette-Madison squad expelled sixty-four lawfully elected delegates and placed in their seats puppets of Gov. La Follette. This atrocious robbery of sixty-four delegates would have given in the convention 649 votes against the Third Termers, or 16 majority over all. When party tyranny reaches that point, as to expel lawfully elected representatives of the people, the maxim which has ruled good men for ages will dictate resistance to tyrants is obedience to God.

CONVENTION A HISTORY MAKER

He then began the practice of his profession in Oconto. As an attorney he has been successful in the supreme as well as the lower courts, and now enjoys an extensive and lucrative practice. In 1893 he was elected county judge, and served in that office four years. He has always taken an active part in politics, and has attended state conventions as a delegate on numerous occasions. He thus has an extensive acquaintance with prominent republican politicians of the state. In 1894, at the republican state convention in Milwaukee, he made the speech placing Edward Scofield in nomination for the governorship. In 1890, while still attending school, he made political speeches for his party, and every campaign since that time has found him on the stump, advocating the principles of republicanism. In 1898 he was elected mayor of Oconto and re-elected in 1899 without opposition. He is now serving his third term as city attorney. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias and Masonic orders, and in 1898 was elected grand chancellor of the former organization in this state. He was a candidate for the office of attorney general before the republican state convention in 1902.

George H. Ray.
George H. Ray of La Crosse, the nominee for lieutenant governor, was born at St. Stephens, New Brunswick, Oct. 4, 1847, both of his parents being American citizens. He came to this country at the age of 18, residing at Rockland and Gardner, Me., until he came to Wisconsin in 1878. He served for six years upon the county board of La Crosse county. He is president of the State Bank of La Crosse. He was elected to the general assembly in 1894, and has served continuously since. He was speaker of the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth assemblies.

F. O. Tarbox.
F. O. Tarbox of Ashland, the nominee for railroad commissioner, is a practical railroad man, an able executive, and a life long republican. He was born in Ohio 37 years ago and came to Wisconsin when he was 32 years of age. Before that time he had been employed in Chicago, where he began at the bottom of the ladder as an operator on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road, advancing rapidly until he became chief train dispatcher of the road. Fifteen years ago he went to Ashland, where he served the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western road as assistant train dispatcher and later as chief train dispatcher. In 1896 he became assistant superintendent of the Ashland division of the Chicago and North-Western road, a position from which he resigned in 1902. Since that time he has been interested in one of the Lake Superior transportation companies, and he also has the privilege of trading with the Indians on one of the reservations. He was endorsed by the railroad men of northern Wisconsin as a candidate for the republican nomination for railroad commissioner in 1902.

William B. Roenitz.
William B. Roenitz of Sheboygan, who has been nominated for insurance commissioner, is one of the best known citizens of that city, where he was born. His father, who died when William was a mere child, was part owner of the Roenitz Bros. tannery, which is now owned by the American Hide and Leather company. Mr. Roenitz is engaged in the insurance business, and although he is not 40 years old, holds several important positions in Sheboygan. He is supervisor of the first ward, having been re-elected to that position in April, and is secretary of the Sheboygan Building and Loan association, one of the principal organizations of the city. He also holds the position of stamp deputy in the internal revenue service.

Gustav Wollaeger.
Gustav Wollaeger was born in Milwaukee Sept. 17, 1873, and received his early education in the Evangelical Lutheran Trinity school of this city. He later attended the Fourth District school, and then, having completed his course at the East Division high school, took his examinations for entrance to Harvard college, from which he was graduated in 1895. He finished the law course at Madison two years later and has since been a partner in the law firm of Sheridan & Wollaeger of this city. In August, 1899, Mr. Wollaeger was appointed regent of Normal schools of the state, to succeed his father, by Acting Gov. Stone, and was appointed court commissioner two years ago. In January, 1900, Mr. Wollaeger was married to Miss Helen Lucke of this city.

NEW FACTORY TO START MONDAY

WITH AN OUTPUT OF THREE HUNDRED PAIRS A DAY.

SALESMEN WILL START SOON

The Company Has Several Rush Orders for Immediate Shipment—Predict a Bright Future.

Western Shoe Company, of Milwaukee, Wis., manufacturers of A. Richardson's perfect fitting seamless shoe, transplanted to Janesville, Wis., with all its equipment and organization of skilled workmen, are now installing five car loads of shoe machinery in the weaving department of the old cotton factory building; and its eighteen thousand square feet of floor space, will soon sound again with industries busy hum; as the cutting department will commence Monday morning, May 23, taking up the work where they left off in Milwaukee, less than three weeks ago, and the entire plant will soon be in operation as the company has lots of rush orders for immediate shipment.

Former Business Man.
Mr. Alex Richardson is one of Janesville's old shoe manufacturers, commencing shoe manufacturing here twenty years ago, under the firm name of Richardson & Marzluft, then Richardson & Norcross company. He is now returned to his old stamping ground, and has brought with him Mr. Henry Nickel, who is treasurer and who looks after the financial interests of the company. Mr. J. H. Meyers, who is superintendent, and looks after the manufacture of the shoes, from the leather to the shipping room; Mr. Henry Gaulke, is foreman of the sole leather department; Mr. Charles Groffy who is foreman of the lasting, bottoming and finishing department; Mr. William H. Walters, who is secretary, and looks after the bookkeeping branch of the business. This practical combination, are all stockholders, and associated with Mr. Richardson, are the personnel of the Western Shoe Company; the factory will start in with an output of three hundred pairs of shoes a day and expect to increase its production in a short time to its full capacity of six hundred pairs per day, the shoes will be of a high standard not only as to the quality of the leather used, but the shoe making will be first class in every particular, as the best shoe making skill will be employed, and when in full operation one hundred and fifty hands will be at work.

Received Several Offers.
The company has received propositions from twenty-three other cities since they decided to change their location from Milwaukee. Many of the propositions in themselves are much better than the citizens of Janesville offered, simply moving expenses; as some of them contained free rent, bonus and all moving expenses, but Janesville was given the preference, as it is the home of quite a large number of skilled shoe factory hands centrally located close to the leather markets with a reputation already established for good shoes, and excellent shipping facilities, afforded a combination of advantages most favorable of all for successful shoe manufacturing.

SAYS THERE WAS NO SUICIDAL INTENT

George Kilby, Father of Mrs. Hugo Reese, Declares That Taking of Poison Was Accident.

George Kilby, father of Mrs. Hugo Reese who according to the statements of some of her neighbors took carbolic acid with suicidal intent, informs the Gazette that there is absolutely no truth in the story. He says that she took a teaspoonful of the acid last Sunday afternoon, mistaking it for some medicine that had been prescribed, and was herself the first to discover and make known the mistake. He also denies that there was any altercation with her husband and says that the bicycle mentioned as the cause of the supposed contention was the property of a sister and was not disposed of by Mr. Reese, as stated, neither was there any quarrel concerning it. Dr. Gibson who was one of the physicians called corroborates Mr. Kilby's statement that the taking of the poison was an accident. Mrs. Reese suffered no serious effects.

The Filigree Ball

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN,
Author of "The Mystery of Agatha Webb," "Lost Man's Lane," etc.

Copyright, 1903, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"The coroner" paused a moment to let these words sink into the ears of the jury, then plunged immediately into what might be called the offensive part of his examination.

"Why, if your wife's death caused you such intense grief, did you appear so relieved at receiving this by no means convincing explanation?"

At an implication so unmistakably suggestive of suspicion Mr. Jeffrey showed fire for the first time.

"Whose word have you for that? A servant's, so newly come into my house that her very features are still strange to me. You must acknowledge that a person of such marked inexperience can hardly be thought to know me or to interpret rightly the feelings of my heart by any passing look she may have surprised upon my face."

This attitude of defiance so suddenly assumed had an effect he little realized. Miss Tuttle stirred for the first time behind her veil, and Uncle David, from looking bored, became suddenly quite attentive. These two had mirrored the feelings of the general crowd, and mine especially.

"We do not depend on her judgment alone," the coroner now remarked. "The change in you was apparent to many others. This we can prove to the jury if they require it."

But, no man lifting a voice from that gravenly attentive body, the coroner proceeded to inquire if Mr. Jeffrey felt like volunteering any explanations on this head. Receiving no answer from him either, he dropped the suggestive line of inquiry and took up the consideration of facts. The first question he now put was:

"Where did you find the slip of paper containing these last words from your wife?"

"In a book I picked out of the bookshelf in our room upstairs. When Loretta gave me my wife's message I knew that I should find some word from her in the novel we had just been reading. As we had been interested in but one book since our marriage, there was no possibility of my making any mistake as to which one she referred to."

"Will you give us the name of this novel?"

"Compensation."

"And you found this book called 'Compensation' in your room upstairs?"

"Yes."

"On the bookshelf?"

"Yes."

"Where does this bookshelf stand?"

"Mr. Jeffrey looked up as much as to say, 'Why so many small questions about so simple a matter?' but answered frankly enough:

"At the right of the door leading into the bedroom."

"And at right angles to the door leading into the hall?"

"Yes."

"Very good. Now may I ask you to describe the cover of this book?"

"The cover? I never noticed the cover. Why do you—Excuse me, I—"

"Miss Tuttle and Uncle David listening to the evidence."

suppose you have your reasons for asking even these puerile and seemingly unnecessary questions. The cover is a queer one, I believe, partly red and partly green, and that is all I know about it."

"Is this the book?"

Mr. Jeffrey glanced at the volume the coroner held up before him.

"I believe so; it looks like it."

The book had a flaming cover, quite unmistakable in its character.

"The title shows it to be the same," remarked the coroner. "Is this the only book with a cover of this kind in the house?"

"The only one, I should say."

The coroner laid down the book.

"Enough of this, then, for the present; only let the jury remember that the cover of this book is peculiar and that it was kept on a shelf at the right of the opening leading into the adjoining bedroom. And now, Mr. Jeffrey—"

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

GUNBOATS TO FOLLOW UNITED STATES FLAG

Rear Admiral "Bob" Evans Establishes New Rule for Dealing With Chinese Officials.

Washington, May 20.—China has been informed that the United States claims the right to dispatch warships not only to those Chinese ports declared by treaty to be open to the world, but also upon the inland waters of China "wherever Americans may be, and where by treaty with China they are authorized to engage in business or reside for the purpose of spreading the gospel."

The state department publishes the correspondence between Mr. Conger, the American minister at Peking, and Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, late commander in chief of the Asiatic station, which followed a protest of the Chinese government against the visit of the gunboat Villalobos last summer in the Yangtze valley, whither it was ordered by Rear Admiral Evans to gather such information about the Americans residing there as would be of assistance in rendering them prompt assistance in case of an expected native outbreak against foreigners.

The taotai of Kiangling protested to the American consul at Hankow against the visit of the Villalobos to Nanchang on the ground that "bad men" inhabited that section. Minister Conger called on Admiral Evans for the facts. A long correspondence ensued, Admiral Evans stoutly maintaining American warships had the right to go wherever Americans were allowed to reside and engage in business. Secretary Hay has approved the stand taken by Admiral Evans.

Minister Conger sent this note to Rear Admiral Evans:

"I shall be pleased to have you point out to me the provisions of the treaty which give our gunboats the right to go wherever they please in the interior of the empire except on rivers leading to open ports."

"In reply," wrote Admiral Evans, "I may be unable to point out any specific paragraph granting this general authority, but I consider it my duty to watch over and protect the lives and property of the citizens of our country who may be in China, engaged in any lawful pursuit."

ANNOUNCEMENT

Our stock of goods was never more complete than it is at the present time. We are in a position to supply one's needs for almost anything in

Dry Goods,
Upholstery,
Ready-to-wear Garm'nts
Carpets, Rugs,
Matting, Linoleum.

It matters not how often one comes, we always have something new to show.

Before buying outside of the city anything in our line it will pay one to get posted on what we have in stock. Many times we have had people remark, after having bought this or that thing away from home, "Why, I did not know that you had it,"—which is very consoling (?).

Up-to-date merchandise is not sold anywhere for any less than it can be bought for at The Big Store. We are not complaining, for the people are using us very well, but we are always trying to "better our best."

Come in and make yourself at home. . . We take pleasure in showing goods and expect people to look before buying, which is the best way to get posted.
